From Revolution to Revitalization

We are now embarking on a major Mansion Revitalization effort which will strengthen the Mansion's foundation, preserve original architecture, open new areas of interpretation, and create documentation that will mark this as one of the biggest restoration efforts in Mount Vernon's history.

Thanks to your support, we've kicked off the first phase this Revitalization Project with the expansion of the underground utility bunker.

This critical expansion will:

DID YOU KNOW?

The utility bunker and its expansion are totally underground—preserving the historic fabric of the Mansion and grounds.

Your Preservation Dollars at Work

Mount Vernon doesn't receive any federal funding. We rely totally on the generosity of patriots, like you, to preserve and protect this historic treasure and keep the legacy of George and Martha Washington alive.

The meticulous restoration of the New Tomb, where George and Martha rest, is now complete. Throughout its history, the tomb has been a site of great remembrance and pilgrimage for everyday citizens as well as prominent politicians, heads of state, and world leaders. It is once again ready to host millions of visitors from around the globe who wish to pay their respects to our nation's first President and First Lady.

We've also made great progress on preserving the Mansion's East Front Exterior, restoring it to its 1799 appearance.

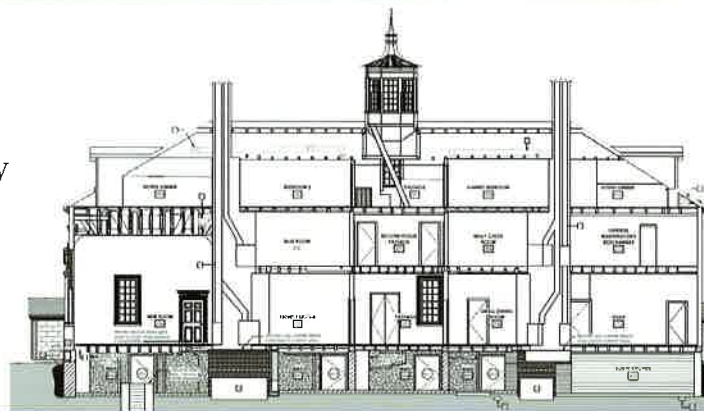

- Provide additional access to the historic cellar which will allow for greater interpretation into this hidden hub of Mansion operations.
- Control the humidity and temperature with room by room zoning - which will preserve the architectural fabric as well as priceless objects on display.
- Preserve the historic fabric of the Mansion by upgrading obsolete HVAC systems.

Archeology will continue throughout the entire Revitalization Project to ensure we aren't disrupting ground that contains historic treasures. To date, we've uncovered historic coins and glassware that date back to Washington's lifetime!

Red, White, and Blueprint!

This is just the beginning of our preservation journey together. We look forward to working with you as we Revitalize the Mansion so it is strong and ready to welcome millions of visitors in celebration of America's 250th birthday in 2026.

This is our generation's chance to give a gift to the man who led America's revolution to freedom in 1776 and has motivated and inspired ever since.
